

I do not want the Do Not Call List weakened, even for soliciting former customers. They would not be former unless they did not want to be former. There is a reason, so leave them alone.